

Proposta di evento nel contesto della Fifth Ministerial Conference on environment and health, Parma, Italy, 10-12 March 2010

(Inserita nel sito dell'OMS)

Type of event: Symposium/Workshop/Seminar.

Title of the event: Environment, Health, Children and Climate Change: integrated actions between municipalities and territorial practitioners.

Purpose:

This initiative aims to make children's health play a key role in all policies and particularly: in policies related to natural, build and confined environments which continuously change; in educational policies and in social policies.

This initiative would be promoted by ISDE Italy, Italian Healthy Cities Network, Italian Local Agenda 21 Association, Italian Associations of General Practitioners, Italian Paediatric Society, Paediatrician's Cultural Association and Environment and Work Association in collaboration with Interdepartmental Bioclimatology Centre of the Florence University, Italian Observatory of Global Health, Legambiente, Environmental Protection Agency - Tuscany Region, ISDE scientific Office, EPH Environment and Public Health, etc..

It would be therefore based on the cooperation of physicians and other professionals with municipalities and other institutions, universities, research institutes and scientific associations, educational institutions and citizens' organisations.

It would follow a program of coordinated and integrated actions to monitor health according to Ottawa Charter. These actions would

- promote environmental health and children's health bearing in mind collective risk due to environmental conditions (climate change, air quality and waste management); food safety and nutritional balance; home safety; education; territory planning and management; urbanisation (mobility and social relationships);
- inform and educate to monitor individual risks due to lifestyles;
- monitor critical situations
- verify the results of institutional decisions.
